

THE FIFTH ANNUAL

STREATHAM FOOD FESTIVAL

THURSDAY 5 - SUNDAY 8
JUNE 2014

www.streathamfoodfestival.com

WELCOME

Welcome to the fifth annual Streatham Food Festival – another feast of foodie delights, right on your doorstep. Over the course of four days we'll be showcasing Streatham's vibrant food scene, giving you the chance to try some of the best places to eat and drink in South London.

Kicking things off, the Streatham Food Tour once again invites you to take a food tour of the world in Streatham with taster plates available in 29 local eateries. Last year's tour proved to be a big hit and we're expecting an even bigger turnout in 2014. Check out our map on p6–9 for full details and to start planning your tour!

Our Sunday Food Fair also returns to Streatham Green with a fantastic line-up of stalls and entertainment for the whole family. The Green came alive in 2013 and this year's event has even more on offer with the return of old favourites plus new additions including boozy ice cream, Pakistani street food and dim sum – yum.

We're delighted to be supporting food growing in schools, with Hitherfield's Herby Bread Session and new planters going into St Andrew's. Adults can get in on the act too, with growing sessions at Gracefield Gardens Health Centre; while freshly harvested, locally grown produce will be available to eat at Streatham Common Community Garden's Victorian Cooking Class, and Sutton Community Farm's VegBox Dinner. What a treat.

Lots of Streatham businesses are getting into the festival spirit with their own events including a charity cake sale, English supperclub, an advice session for parents, barbeques, challenges and even a bit of fairy magic. We think there's something for everyone in this year's programme, we hope you do too.

Of course, the festival couldn't happen without the help of lots of people and we'd like to give particular thanks to our sponsors for making it possible. Huge thanks also to our brilliant team of staff and volunteers, our partners, supporters, performers, businesses – and to you, the community, for getting involved and making the festival so much fun.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Pauline Milligan, Festival Director

InStreatham is proud to sponsor this year's Streatham Food Festival. Streatham is an exciting and diverse place with a wealth of eateries from across the globe. Tapas, pizza, meze, sushi – we really do have it all. So get involved and celebrate Streatham! And if the Food Festival has left you hungry for more, please visit www.instreatham.com for details of all the places to eat and drink locally.

HITHERFIELD'S HERBY BREAD SESSION

Thursday 5 June

Hitherfield Primary School

To kick-off this year's festival, a class of Year 1 pupils at Hitherfield Primary School will have the opportunity to make herby breads with Duncan Salisbury-Gaumont, founder of Streatham's new bakery, Elephant Bakehouse.

In the morning, local grower and horticultural educator Jenny Hindson will lead a session on herb-growing, giving children the chance to learn about different varieties of herbs as well as planting herbs to grow over the coming months.

In the afternoon, Duncan will teach the pupils all about real bread while they knead and shape their own foccacias, to which they'll add freshly picked herbs before baking.

Hitherfield Primary is leading the way on food growing with their new Edible Playground - we're excited to see how it develops over the coming year.

FOOD GROWING AT ST ANDREW'S

Friday 6 June

St Andrew's Catholic Primary School

Morrisons' Store Manager Steve Higgins has been working hard over the past few months to build planters out of recycled timber pallets from the store. The planters will be installed at St Andrew's Catholic Primary School during the festival week, followed by a food growing session with the school's Eco-Team, led by Steve. The Eco-Team will be managing the planters on an ongoing basis, documenting their progress and sharing it with the wider school. We look forward to seeing what they grow!

With thanks to Steve Higgins and Morrisons for providing the planters and all of the supplies.

STREATHAM FOOD TOUR

Take a food tour of the world in Streatham on Thursday 5, Friday 6 and Saturday 7 June

Last year we launched the Streatham Food Tour and were thrilled with how popular it was. This year we continue to celebrate the wonderful variety of restaurants in the area and for three days only you can take a food tour of the world in Streatham, by popping into several local eateries for a plate of food. Twenty-nine venues will be serving mini-plates of their signature dishes and specials for £2 to £5 each – so why not take the opportunity to try something new?

“We think this is a fantastic way to sample a load of local eateries without breaking the bank or worrying you'll be stuck somewhere you don't like all evening.” – londonist.com

6pm–10pm on Thursday 5 and Friday 6 June, plus 12pm–10pm on Saturday 7 June.
Subject to availability.

Take the 'Food Tourist Challenge' to be in with a chance of winning dinner for two at the restaurant of your choice. Pick-up a scorecard from participating restaurants or grab one from our festival 'Tour Guides' who'll be located throughout Streatham wearing Food Festival branded aprons and chefs hats. This year you only need 3 restaurant stamps to be in with a chance of winning – but don't let that stop you from getting a lot more.

A VICTORIAN COOKING LESSON

WITH RACHEL DE THAMPLE

Sunday 8 June, 10.30am–12.00pm

Streatham Common Community Garden, The Rookery, SW16 3BZ

Join Rachel de Thample, local food writer and chef, for an outdoor cooking session. The group will look at ingredients popular during Victorian times including rhubarb, broad beans, cardoons, purple potatoes, golden beetroot and redcurrants (if they're ready in time!) with a quick recipe to go along with each.

The session will also look at how Victorians structured their meals, who cooked, and how class played a part. Mrs Beeton recipes will feature, along with other cooks of the day. The cooking demonstration will be followed by a food tasting and Q&A.

Entry: FREE but booking is essential by emailing streathamcommunitygarden@gmail.com

Presented by Streatham Common Community Garden and the Friends of Streatham Common as part of the Rookery Centenary Project with support from the Heritage Lottery Fund.
